The civilizations of East Asia offers a wealth of human experience of invaluable import to every academic discipline. Unbroken cultural lines of great antiquity lead to modern East Asian cultures of ever-growing global significance. Whether we look to the past, the present or the future, in studying East Asia, we study ourselves and our world.

A traditional liberal education that is limited to the study of “Western” civilization is no longer a liberal education. The Department of East Asian Studies, therefore, offers courses for all Bucknell students, regardless of language ability, as well as the special interests of students choosing any of the department’s three majors or minors: Chinese, Japanese or East Asian studies. The Chinese and Japanese majors focus on in-depth knowledge of a specific country through extended engagement with its primary language combined with a range of focused culture courses. The East Asian Studies major provides a broader overview of the region through a combination of culture courses focused on both China and Japan, and at least a year of language study in either Chinese or Japanese.

All students majoring or minoring in the Department of East Asian Studies are strongly encouraged to seek opportunities for summer, semester, or preferably full-year study in China or Japan. Bucknell is a member of the Associated Kyoto Program (<http://www.associatedkyotoprogram.org>), under which students may, if accepted, spend part or all of their junior year at Doshisha University in Japan. Many other opportunities to study in East Asia also are available.

East Asian Studies offers three distinct majors: Chinese and Japanese, which both emphasize language and focused cultural competency; and East Asian Studies, which emphasizes a broad exposure to the cultures of both China and Japan.

Chinese Major

The major entails a program of study (created in consultation with a department adviser) focused on the history, culture and language of China, and requires a minimum of 10 courses:

Proficiency in Chinese language at the 202 level, and at least two of these language courses taken at Bucknell. Native speakers of Chinese must demonstrate Japanese language proficiency at the 202 level, and at least two of these language courses must be taken at Bucknell.	2
One course in Chinese history: ¹	1
EAST 233	China from Ancient Time to 18th Century
EAST 234	China Since 1800
EAST 267	The People’s Republic of China
One course in Chinese literature or film:	1
EAST 125	Masterpieces of Chinese Literature in Translation
EAST 208	The Red Brush: Women Writers in Imperial China
EAST 213	Chinese Literature in Translation
EAST 228	China Through the Lens
EAST 229	Love, Crime, and the Supernatural: Late Imperial Chinese Fiction
EAST electives focused on China	2
CHIN or EAST electives	2
One EAST course outside the China focus	1
EAST 395	East Asian Studies Honors Thesis ²
or EAST 400	East Asian Studies Senior Thesis

² Culminating Experience.

The department encourages majors and potential majors, especially those considering a double major, to consult early and frequently with an EAST faculty member to explore ways to systematically connect and expand work done in the culture courses taken for the major with the research project that forms the core of the Culminating Experience.

The Culminating Experience provides students an opportunity to pursue focused research on a subject relevant to their concentration and of interest to them. The Culminating Experience must: involve substantial writing, involve substantial research, incorporate Chinese-language sources (Japanese-language sources for native speakers of Chinese) or, treat in depth some aspect of the culture of China, and be presented at the spring Majors' Symposium.

All students majoring in Chinese will receive instruction in writing, speaking and information literacy in the discipline through experiences in the language courses, culture courses and the Culminating Experience that each major completes.

East Asian Studies Major

The major provides a broad introduction to the histories and cultures of China and Japan, and entails a program of study (created in consultation with a department adviser) that requires a minimum of 10 courses:

Proficiency in Chinese or Japanese language at the 102 level, and at least one Chinese or Japanese language course taken at Bucknell or on an approved abroad program. Native speakers of either Chinese or Japanese must demonstrate this proficiency in the other language.	1

One EAST course outside the Japan focus	1
EAST 395 East Asian Studies Honors Thesis ²	1
or EAST 400 East Asian Studies Senior Thesis

¹ Only one 100-level EAST course may be counted toward the major.

² Culminating Experience.

The department encourages majors and potential majors, especially those considering a double major, to consult early and frequently with an EAST faculty member to explore ways to systematically connect and expand work done in the culture courses taken for the major with the research project that forms the core of the Culminating Experience.

The Culminating Experience provides students an opportunity to pursue focused research on a subject relevant to their concentration and of interest to them. The Culminating Experience must: involve substantial writing, involve substantial research, incorporate Japanese-language sources (Chinese-language sources for native speakers of Japanese) or, treat in depth some aspect of the culture of Japan, and be presented at the spring Majors' Symposium.

All students majoring in Japanese will receive instruction in writing, speaking and information literacy in the discipline through experiences in the language courses, culture courses and the Culminating Experience that each major completes.

Minor in East Asian Studies

The department offers three minors.

East Asian Studies Minor

Five EAST courses 5

A minor in East Asian Studies consists of five coherently-grouped department courses, of which one must be selected from the following:

EAST 233	China from Ancient Time to 18th Century
EAST 234	China Since 1800
EAST 254	From Shinto to Shogun: Pre-modern Japan

EAST 251. Buddhism. 1 Credit.Offered Either Fall or Spring; Lecture hours:3,Other:1

Interdisciplinary introduction to Buddhism, including basic teachings of liberation from suffering, impermanence, no-self, ethics, and meditation. Also explores the historical development of various streams of Buddhism in Asia and the West, with attention to the effect of Buddhism on society, politics, and material culture. Crosslisted as RELI 200.

EAST 252. Marketing Chinese Religions. 1 Credit.Offered Either Fall or Spring; Lecture hours:3

Focus on the economies of Chinese religious institutions in modern and contemporary periods, with attention also paid to premodern precedents. Economics here indicates not only mechanisms of monetary exchange, but also negotiations of spiritual capital (ledgers of [de]merit) and of religious identities amidst rampant consumerism and commodification of sanctity. Crosslisted as RELI 245.

EAST 253. Death of Religion in Japan. 1 Credit.Offered Either Fall or Spring; Lecture hours:3

Religion in Japan is dead. Or, the rumors of its demise are greatly exaggerated. But one thing's for sure, Japanese religion is the province of the dead. This course examines how Japanese religions, which are supposedly dead or dying, supply the primary means for coping with life and death. Crosslisted as RELI 246.

EAST 254. From Shinto to Shogun: Pre-modern Japan. 1 Credit.Offered Either Fall or Spring; Lecture hours:3

The course will examine the cultural and institutional developments which constitute the Japanese heritage, with emphasis on classical Heian and early medieval court culture and late medieval samurai society. Crosslisted as HIST 295.

EAST 255. Modern Japanese History. 1 Credit.Offered Both Fall and Spring; Lecture hours:3

Japan from a few hundred samurai-ruled domains loosely held together by a shogun to a bureaucratic modern nation-state in service to an emperor: small wars won, expansive empire gained, cosmopolitan cities built, and a big war lost. Crosslisted as HIST 296.

EAST 256. Contemporary Japanese History. 1 Credit.Offered Spring Semester Only; Lecture hours:3,Other:1

Political and cultural history of post-World War II Japan using various sources including film, anime, art, political cartoon, popular song. Crosslisted as HIST 286.
